

Ghias In The Movies

Star Trek IV: The Voyage Home (1986)

Writer: Leonard Nimoy and Harve Bennett; Director: Leonard Nimoy; Starring William Shatner, Leonard Nimoy, DeForest Kelley, James Doohan, George Takai, Nichelle Nichols – and a passing pre-71 Karmann Ghia coupé (at about 41 mins into the movie).

Kirk, Spock and the crew of the Enterprise find themselves struggling with the perils of 1980s San Francisco while trying to save Humpback Whales from extinction. As they cross a road they cross in front of the Karmann Ghia pictured here. Pretty much the only Star Trek movie that doesn't feature a "bad guy" and it came at the height of '80's animal conservation movements and awareness.

With thanks to Chailey Illman for providing this edition's GITMs

